

Mock Exam Part I

0. your name, if you want feedback:

1. Your boss has given you the following table to check; what's wrong and why?

goods
ear- then- ware

2. Carry out a morphemic analysis of

a) disconnected

b) contraception

3. The company you are working for has just developed a yellowish liquid washing detergent that smells like orchids and which removes water colours, colour from ball pens, egg yolk, stains from fruit juice etc. out of clothes. Make proposals for names for this new product that illustrate the different word formation procedures.

4. Now that you have been employed, your company decides to revise their manuals. In one of the manuals, you find the following sentence:

You must fix the switch in the middle.

- a) What is problematic about the sentence?
- b) Carry out a constituency analysis of 'the switch in the middle' and of 'in the middle' using appropriate tests.
- c) Your colleague, who has produced the first edition of the manual, does not get the point. Use a visual technique to illustrate the problem.